Get Your Music Mixed Or Mastered By A Pro

Let's face it, in the age of the iPod, you need everything on your side to get your song to stand out to the listener. That's where we step in. By ordering Online Mixing, you will get a professional mix engineer to meticulously craft the parts of your song into a seamless whole.

Each stem will receive its own balance of equalization, compression, panning, amplification, stereo imaging, spacial dimension (reverb), and added enhancements such as analog warmth and saturation, and aural exciter, where needed. For more intensive operations you can purchase added services like Vocal Correction, Drum Replacement, Special Editing and Mastering.

One of our unique features is that we keep you informed of every detail of your track from start to finish. We can even provide free consultation before you purchase any mixing package so as to determine the best possible gameplan to achieving the results you want.

Ever wonder why you can never seem to get your mixes sounding as good as commercially released music? Ever try to put that finishing touch on your tracks yourself, only to realize that the results are maddeningly inconsistent depending on listening source and environment? The difference is often in the mastering, and achieving a delicate balance that produces good results across a wide variety of listening environments requires a lot of experience.

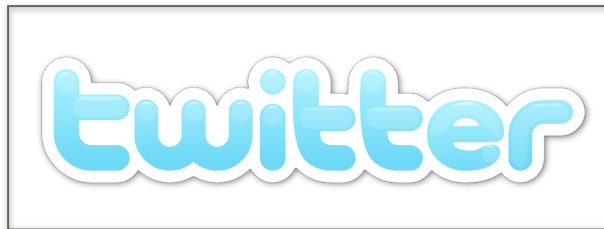

With over 15 years of hands-on studio expertise, and having mastered music for just about every genre, Platinum Audiolab is proud to bring our quality and attention to detail to an affordable online market. It doesn't matter if you only need 1 single, an EP, or a full-length mastered. You will receive top-quality masters in .wav format ready for distribution on CD, and you will also receive them in a high quality mp3 format for instant sale on itunes or any other digital distribution.
